NIGHT OF TERROR IN ALEXANDRIA

March Makes Advent Accompanied by Wind of Hurricane Force.

SIXTY-ONE MILE GALE.

Chimneys Fall, Windows are Smashed and Rainspouts, Shingles, Slate, and Tin are Whirled in Air.

It is generally admitted that last night was one of the wildest ever experienced by the oldest inhabitant. It was akin to the night of the 3rd of March, 1909, the day before Wm. H. Taft became President of the United States. There had been light rains yesterday morning and in the afternoon the wind began to blow fresh from the northwest. It soon gathered force and as the afternoon advanced it assumed the force of a hurricane, the temperature in the meantime falling rapidly. By dark Old Boreas was roaring furiously, the heavy flaws occasioning no little anxiety to most residents with the recollection of the terrible havoc wrought by wind in this city on the 30th day of last July.

The elements were furious and to many persons sleep was impossible. The sound of slamming shutters and gates, flying pieces of slate, shingles, spouting and tin hurled through the air naturally produced anxiety. An inventory of the city this morning showed there was an abundant cause for the fears manifested. Buildings had been damaged, shutters twisted from their hinges, gates blown down and minor damage of all sorts was apparent. Fortunately nobody was injured so far as can be learned.

While the wind was blowing at its highest velocity there were several alarms of fire. They were caused by burning chimneys and no damage followed.

The wind obtained a velocity of sixty-one miles an hour, and this was maintained throughout the night. Between 5 and 6 o'clock this morning the flaws at times were equally as heavy as those at midnight.

About 10 o'clock the stars began to glimmer, but they soon hid themselves and snow flurries added to the dismal scenes without. The gale continued with no signs of abatement and was roaring furiously while early risers were eating breakfast.

The river which had been covered with ice by the blizzard of last week soon made the face of its channel exposed, the violent nor'wester driving the ice from the docks and Virginia flats and piling it on the Maryland side.

While the damage occasioned by the storm is far below that caused by the high wind last July, in some places it is serious.

The west end of the electric plant was blown in. Both ends were blown in last July.

The three-story brick residence of Eugene B. Taylor, on the east side of Fairfax street, between King and Prince was seriously damaged, the chimney on the north side and part of the wall having been blown down. The residence of W. E. Latham, on the north, was considerably damaged by the falling bricks.

The smokestacks at the Belle and Virginia Glass Works were blown down.

The roof of the Alexandria Light Infantry was blown off on to the roof of the residence of Frank Hamilton, adjoining on the south.

The Hotel Ramer, northwest of King and Fayette streets, was damaged by a falling chimney, and Rothwell and Goods store, at 1222 King street, was unroofed. The roof of the residence occupied by Lucius Gaines, at 531 south St. Asaph street, was blown off.

The side of the station of the Washington-Virginia Railway at Bradock Heights, was blown in.

Mrs. Addison Deahl and her grandson, Phillip Peyton, who reside on the third floor of 620 King street, in the building owned by John A. Cogan, narrowly escaped death at 8:30 o'clock last night. They were seated in a room underneath a skylight when the big chimney and a portion of the fire wall of the Virginia Theatre, adjoining the Cogan building on the west, fell through the skylight into the room. They were able to jump aside and escaped injury. Considerable damage was done to the Cogan roof.

Alexandria has been practically cut off from the outside world by the hurricane. With the exception of the telephone wires to Washington, which is working badly, there is no method of communication with other points. Thousands of Alexandria who are employed in Washington have been unable to reach their places of business today. No trains of the Washington-Virginia Railway have been operated since last night on account of lack of current. The railway stations have been crowded since early this morning with commuters who hoped that the service would be resumed, but after waiting for four or five hours many gave up the trip and returned to their homes. Several business men walked to the Union station on the outskirts of the city, hoping to be able to catch a steam train, but all of the southern trains were reported from five to eight hours late and it was impossible to reach Washington by that method. Congressman Charles C. Carlin, who had important business in Congress today, made the trip over the road in an automobile.

STORM IN WASHINGTON.

Several Persons Injured and Considerable Damage to Property.

Washington, March 2.—Visited by one of the heaviest continuous gales in the history of the city, since wind velocity records have been kept by the weather service, Washington is wreck-strewn today and the streets are lined with debris.

Throughout the residence and business districts the damage was heavy. Six persons injured in the storm were cared for by hospitals and thousands of dollars measure the loss in property.

The entire East suffered with Washington in a heavy northwest gale that developed into a blizzard this morning, and the Capital with many other cities and towns is practically cut off from outside communication.

Train service is stalled in all directions and telephone and telegraph wires are down. Washington has direct telegraphic wires only to Richmond, Norfolk, and Philadelphia.

The sun peeped out on storm stricken Washington this afternoon, but only for a brief time. Recovery from the storm is promised with fair skies and warmer weather tomorrow.

So terrific was the heavy northwestern gale that broke loose yesterday, that even the very foundations of the earth were shaken. The Seismograph at Georgetown University recorded tremors of the earth's surface from 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon until 8 o'clock this morning. The tremors were caused by the tremendous wind pressure.

Throughout the night Washingtonians and residents of neighboring towns were kept awake by the swaying of their domiciles, and the constant crashing of roofs and chimneys torn away, breaking glass and uprooting trees. The full extent of the damage cannot, as yet, be even estimated. The business district suffered heavily from broken plate glass windows and wind-swept interiors.

This morning the gale developed into a blizzard, that even further interrupted street car service. The big turbine power plant at Benning, operated by the Washington Railway an Electric Company, went out of service becausce the wind swept the water from the Eastern branch of the Potomac, leaving much of the river bed dry. Street car traffic suffered accordingly, and many of the city office buildings were without elevator service for a time.

FORCED TO DELAY CHIHUAHUA TRIP

Benton Investigation Commission Compelled to Abruptly Halt.

NO TO GO ON TRAIN.

Members Decline to Talk—President Wilson and Secretary Bryan Discuss Situation at Conference.

Juarez, March 2.—The Benton investigating commission was prevented from proceeding to Chihuahua to examine the slain Benton's body by rebel orders.

Colonel Fidel Avilla, military commander here, declined to permit them to board the regular passenger train, which was waiting.

Persistent inquiry here and in El Paso failed to establish anything but the one fact that the commissioners were refused passports on this side, and returned to El Paso.

The order surprised the commissioners. Villa, at Chihuahua, repeatedly has expressed his desire to hasten the inquiry, and his offer of a special train to take commissioners from this city to Chihuahua, where Benton's body is said to be buried, was formally accepted by Marion Letcher, the American consul there.

George C. Carothers, agent of the State Department in many of its dealings with Villa, also delayed his departure for Chihuahua.

El Paso, Texas, March 2.—The trip of the Benton investigating commission to Chihuahua was postponed suddenly or abandoned yesterday, shortly before the commissioners were about to take the train. None of the commissioners would talk about the delay.

Major Davidson said the subject was one which he could not discuss. Perceval declined to be seen.

Refugees deeply interested in the situation were at a loss to account for the new turn in affairs. Several said they thought that Caranza's attempt to use the Benton negotiations as a lever to obtain recognition of the rebel government, and the dispatches from Washington indicating that the State Department already is satisfied that it has the correct version of the Benton killing," had something to do with the change in plans.

BRYAN IN RICHMOND.

City Auditorium Unable to Hold Crowd That Came to Hear Him.

Richmond, Va., March 2.—Four thousand people applied for admission to the City Auditorium Saturday night to hear William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State, address the Virginia Progressive Democratic League on the final night of its first convention. Of this number 3,500 found seats on the floor and stage and in the gallery, and the other 500 were turned back at the doors for lack of space.

About one thousand persons came to the building before 8 o'clock—a full half hour before the program began. By 8:15 o'clock every available seat was taken, and the overflow grouped itself into the vestibule.

Preliminaries consumed the time until 8:15 o'clock, when the Secretary of State was presented by Eugene Withers, of Danville.

In his address Mr. Bryan followed the lines of thought in the comprehensive platform enunciated earlier in the day by the convention of the Virginia Progressive Democratic League, picking from the program for special emphasize the reform of the primary and the principles of initiative and referendum.

All persons holding stubs for Victor Victrola of the Order of the Fraternal Order of Eagles be present at raffling at Opera House, Tuesday night March 3rd.

DEATH OF F. J. GEISENDAFFER

Old and Well-Known Resident Passes Away at his Home This Afternoon.

Frederick J. Geisendaffer, whose critical illness was mentioned in the Gazette last week, died early this afternoon at his home, 609 south Lee street. The deceased was 83 years old. He is survived by two children, Charles Geisendaffer and Mrs. James H. Smith.

Mr. Geisendaffer was a son of the late Justus Geisendaffer, who shortly before the civil war was keeper of the Jones's Point lighthouse, he having succeeded the late Gorge Deeton, who was appointed under President Buchanan's administration in 1858, when the lighthouse was established. In early life he engaged in railroading, being one of the crew of the passenger train of the old Orange and Alexandria Railroad. He later became baggagemaster and at the outbreak of the civil war was an attache of the Adams Express Company, where he remained for many years, or until old age rendered it necessary for him to relinquish his position.

Mr. Geisendaffer was probably the oldest member of Potomac Lodge of Odd Fellows, of Alexandria.

REMINDER OF OTHER DAYS.

Conditions Today Similar to Those Incident to Johnstown Flood.

Alexandria has been isolated today by the blizzard conditions. All Alexandrians have been kept at home and the strangers within our gates have been compelled to extend their visit until means of transportation from the city shall have been perfected. The electric railway has been unable to obtain current, and all the steam trains are many hours late.

Unfortunately we have no ferry service.

During the Johnstown flood in 1889, Alexandria experienced similar conditions. The Long Bridge was damaged by the high waters and the approaches were flooded, bringing the railroad to a standstill. The tide in the Potomac was at such an abnormal stage that the ferry steamers could not make landings.

There were no electric railway at the time, and people whose business in Washington was urgent, were compelled to make the trip via the Aqueduct Bridge.

TWO WOMEN ACCUSE HIM.

New Yorker Held in California on White Slavery Charge.

San Francisco, March 2.—Edmund H. Damon, said to be a real estate dealer living in New York, was arrested last night at San Louis Obispo, Cal., on information supplied by two young women of Jacksonville, Fla., who charged that Damon transported them to California for immoral purposes.

The women, Nan Thorpe, 21 years old, and Lillian Lynch, a year her senior, are in custody here. Two men giving the names of Joseph W. Schwartz, Cleveland, Ohio, and Frank J. Corbett, of New York, were with them and were also arrested. They said they were Damon's servants.

The women asserted that Damon promised them positions here and paid their fares. When he did not appear to meet them the women telegraphed to various county authorities to arrest him. Damon is said to have left the train at Pismo, Cal.

STORM'S FURY IN OTHER PLACES

Great Havoc Wrought by Elements in Northeastern States.

KILLS FIVE PERSONS.

Snow Accompanies High Winds—Railroad Traffic Brought to Standstill—Poles Thrown on Track.

New York, March 2.— A fierce storm swept the northern section of the country yesterday and last night.

From Pittsburgh and Bufalo on the west, to the Atlantic seaboard and up through the New England States, heavy gales carried rain, snow, or sleet, the maximum precipitation in some localities being more than 15 inches.

Ships were blown ashore, interurban communication by telegraph and telephone was interrupted for hours, and trains were blocked or delayed on nearly all railroads.

In New York there were five deaths due to the storm. The safety of the crew of an unknown schooner aground of fthe Connecticut shore was in doubt. The storm was central off New York last night, with the temperature falling rapidly as a cold wave from the lake region advanced eastward.

Telegraph companies reported the damage to their service as the most serious in years, and officers of railroad companies made the same statements.

Wet snow snapped telegraph and telephone wires, and with a gale blowing at a velocity of 80 miles at times many poles were toppled over. On some lines the poles fell across railroad tracks, blocking traffic.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 2.—A snow storm which began yesterday morning and assumed blizzard proportions as the day wore on, is now sweeping the resort with increasing severity and has already done a great amount of damage.

Philadelphia, March 2.—One of the worst storms in years raged in this city and vicinity, paralyzing wire communication to Eastern points and bringing train service between this city and New York to a standstill.

Carried by a 45-mile gale, the storm of sleet and snow crippled trolley and electric service in this city. At midnight the central section of the city was in darkness, while across the river in Camden the city lights had to be shut off because of crossed wires, which sounded fire alarms and kept the department continuously on the jump.

Trees were uprooted, signs were blown down, and houses unroofed, but so far as could be learned, no one was seriously injured.

At Mount Carmel, Pa., a portion of the roof of a tabernacle in which a religious revival was being held was blown off. No one was injured.

BARKSDALE AND THE BANK BILL

Corporation Commission Orders Him to Appear Tomorrow Morning.

HEARS HE LOBBIED.

Members Would Know if he Neglected His Duties While Working For Increase in His Salary.

Richmond, Va., March. 2.—State Bank Examiner Charles C. Barksdale has been summoned to appear before the State Corporation Commission tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The summons was sent to Mr. Barksdale in a leter from Clerk Richard T. Wilson, written by specific direction of the commission. Members of the commission have declined to discuss or to outline the nature of the matter under consideration.

From other sources, however, it is learned that the commission, which is responsible for the official conduct of the bank examiner, desires to inquire into alleged insubordination on the part of Mr. Barksdale, in urging before the General Assembly bills giving him unlimited authority, increasing his salary, and removing him from the direct control and supervision of the commission.

Four bills increasing the salary of the bank examiner to the amount now paid members of the Corporation Commission have been introduced at this session. One of them has passed the senate. Another has been defeated in the House. It is alleged that Mr. Barksdale has spent a large part of his time since the Assembly met on the floor of the two houses and in the corridors of the capitol. The Corporation desires to inquire whether this has led to the neglect of his ojcial du...

SWANSON WANTS BRIDGE!

Urges Appropriation For Preliminaries on Memorial Bridge to Arlington.

Washington, March 2.—An effort will be made to have included in the urgent deficiency appropriation bill now pending before the Senate Appropriations Committee, an item of $25,000 for the use of the commission which has been authorized by law to go ahead with plans for a memorial bridge across the Potomac river, from Washington to Arlington, Virginia.

Senator Swanson, of Virginia, chairman of the public buildings and ground committee of the Senate, said last night that he would lend his aid in the matter. In the public buildings bill, passed by the last congress, the commission for the bridge was authorized, and $25,000 was specified as the amount which should be allowed the commission for making the preliminary plans for the bridge, which when completed will be a splendid structure, and will be in effect a continuation of the Lincoln Memorial which is to stand on the banks of the Potomac.

Senator Swanson, as chairman of the Senate public buildings and ground committee, is a member of the bridge commission, of which President Wilson is the chairman. As soon as the appropriation is made available Senator Swanson intends to call the matter to the attention of the president.

Senator Martin, chairman of the Senate appropriations Committee, which handles the deficiency bill, also is a strong friend of the memorial bridge project, and it is expected that he will do all in his power to aid in the matter.

After considerable discussion of methods of organization, the convention elected the folowing state committee, which is to meet subject to the call of President Pollard for completing the details of thorough organization:

Second Congressional District—L. C. Steele, J. D. Wood, G. Taylor Gwathmey.

The platform of the league containing a statement of its aims and the reason for its organization, was drawn by the resolution comimttee, of which former Senator Aubrey E Strode was chairman. The committee was named at the morning session and made its report late in the afternoon. VICTIM OF BURNING OIL.

Stewart E. Bowen Tenth Person Killed Starting Fire With Kerosene.

Winchester, Va., March 2.—Stewart E. Bowen, aged about forty years, an employe of the city street department, who was severely burned on Thursday, when he poured kerosene oil on a sluggish kitchen fire, died this morning in Memorial Hospital from the effects of the burns. After pouring oil on the kindling wood and while holding the oil can in his hands he applied a match to the wood. There was a great flame, which caused the can to explode, scattering oil over his body. Like a human torch, he ran and dived headlong into a snowbank, and neighbors beat out the fire. It was thought he had a good chance to recover, but uremic poison developed and he sank rapidly dying Friday.

The captain said that the ice, which he had been fighting all night had punched a hole in her bow. The pumps were set going. One of the sip's boats were hung over the side ready for emergency.

VAULT IS WRECKED.

Amateur Yeggmen in Lynchburg Get Only $32 for Their Trouble.

Lynchburg, Va., March 2.—The vault and factory office of the Lynchburg Foundry Company were wrecked Friday night, when the vault was blown open with dynamite by persons who are believed to have been amateurs, and who got $32 for their trouble, as any funds of the company carried over night are kept at the uptown offices. The floor of the vault is a complete wreck, while practically every window pane in the large office was shattered by the force of the explosion.

The robbers broke into the workshop of the plant and used a crowbar and a hammer taken from there in their work. This fact, together with the apparent lack of knowledge of dynamite, gives rise to the belief that the robbery was perpetrated by amateurs.

THE MANASSAS HIGH SCHOOL.

A campaign of publicity is sometimes necessary to call to our attention some of the opportunities enjoyed by the youth of our Eighth Congressional District.

Here, within the limits of our own borders, we find an institution which has won for itself the proud distinction of enrollment amongst the accredited high schools of our state at the same time, giving a thorough course in science, bearing upon the agricultural needs of our community.

We refer to the Manassas Agricultural High School, a modest structure, on the outskirts of Manassas Township, situated on an eminence overlooking a rolling country, at the foothills of the Blue Ridge.

On its faculty are found teachers who have pursued advanced courses of studies under the educational experts of Columbia, John Hopkins University, the University of Chicago, the University of Virginia Peabody Teachers' College, and Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

By experience in successful practice, these teachers have won for themselves, honored names on the list of our state educators.

Completion of the academic courses of Manassas High School admits the student to the foremost colleges of this country and the agricultural courses are of such excellence as to win recognition at Cornell.

Recently a normal department has been added which gives a year's work in the theory and practice of teaching with ample opportunity for observation and teaching in the departments of Bennett Grammar School.

In addition, a week is spent in Washington in attendance upon the regular sessions of the city's best schools and in visiting state buildings for wider knowledge of the governmental departments of the nation.

This normal training course is based upon a three-years' course of high school studies but admission is given to teachers holding first or second grade certificates.

The head of the department holds the degree of B. S. from Teachers' College, Columbia University, and has pursued graduate work at the University of Virginia.

MARCH ARRIVES IN LEONINE HUMOR.

People living in Alexandria and on most of the Atlantic seaboard will have cause to remember the advent of March 1, 1914. Before the month was half a day old it showed its teeth and went on a rampage exceeding its former capers to a great extent. Shortly after midday the fabled giants emerged from their caves armed with concle shells, and their blasts were soon reverberating for hundreds of miles. Within an hour or two they were sending forth notes at a velocity calculated at sixty-one miles an hour, suggestive of the shrieks of demons, and at other times as the roar of nearby steam trains. Nothing could be heard but the wind and the sound of havoc it was working.

While the damage in Alexandria has not been, in most cases, serious, no person was hurt. Other places, however, were by no means so blest, as in New York five persons were killed.

Railway traffic in many places was brought to a standstill, houses were unroofed, vessels blown ashore and the blizzard conditions of last week reproduced.

In Washington many persons had thrilling experiences. Windows were blown in and occupants of houses were compelled to pick up their children and go out into the biting wind in order to secure shelter for the night.

Man has stood in dread of the elements since he first appeared on earth, and with all the modern inventions and conquests he is as helpless in bridling the powers of nature as in the days of Methuselah. The fact that the elements was against man was a puzzle to Job and his friends. Thomas Carlyle, one of the greatest thinkers in our day, in one of his essays refers to such conditions and after looking at them from every standpoint, was no more capable of expressing a satisfactory reason for the existing order of things than the weakest of the race. He calls attention to the fact that man is placed between terrific forces with no power to control them or often to escape their effects. He is terrorized by seismic disturbances, Aeolus and Jupiter Tonans, while at times his life is menaced by shooting stars, as was the case in Europe several days ago.

BIG MILL BURNS.

Richmond Officers of Bedford Company Leave for Scene to Rebuild Plant.

Richmond, March 2.—Officers of the Bedford Pulp and Paper Company, all of whom reside in this city, were informed by telegram early last night that their large plant at Big Island, Bedford county, nineteen miles west of Lynchburg, was on fire. Later in the night it was reported that the building was doomed, but with no telegraph office open at night, and the only telephone in the village located in the mills, further information could not be obtained.

The Bedford Pulp and Paper Company is one of the largest concerns of its kind in the state, It has a big pulp mill at Coleman's Falls four miles below Big Island, while its paper amnufacturing plant is in that village. Its principal officers are Gus Millhiser, president; Miltor E. Marcuse, vice-president, and treasurer, and Raymond I. Straus secrtary, all of Richmond.

The origin of the fire could not be ascertained. At 7 o'clock last night General Manager Baker, of the plant, telephoned to the Lynchburg Fire Department for help, and a steamer and eight firemen were sent over the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway on a special train. Mr. Baker at the time stated that it was possible that a fire wall would save a portion of the building, but later advices indicated that it had failed to do so.

When Mr. Baker telephoned to Lynchburg he stated that the fire was then fifteen feet from the telephone, and for that reason he was unable to give any details. The foreman of the Bedford City Power Company, two miles from the fire at 8:30 o'clock, said he was satisfied that he the whole plant was looned.

As soon as word reached here last night, Milton E. Marcuse and I. J. Marcuse mare arrangements to go immediately to Big Island, and left at 9:20 o'clock. It was stated from an authoritative sources, that the company would imediately begin to rebuild. The plant employs nearly 30 men, as it works continuously with two shifts. The fire will in no way effect the operations of the pulp mill.

NEWS OF THE DAY

An engineer named Iglesias Blanco yesterday made a successful expriment at Madrid with an ultraviolet ray apparatus similar to that used by Ginlio Ulivo, exploding a case of dynamite buried in the ground at a distance of half a mile. He claims that with his invention he can explode the magazine of warships or the gasoline tanks of aeroplanes and dirigible balloons.

Pierre and Gabriel Salvez, brothers, were killed yesterday while making an experimental flight in an all-metal monoplane of their own invention. The left wing of the monoplane gave way, and the machine dashed to the ground.

Francisco Villalba, a ragpicker, and another man named Jose Lovar were arrested yesterday in Malaga, Spain, charged with the murder of an 8-year-old boy. Lovar confessed that he and the ragpicker were paid by an unknown man to kill the lad and secure his blood, which the unknown man believed would be efficacious in the treatment of a disease from which he was suffering.

Suthern Democratic senators have taken up the question of the new recorder of deeds for the District of Columbia, and are urging at the White House that the new appointee shall be of the white race. Senator Vardaman, of Mississippi; Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, and the Maryland and Virginia senators, with other supporters, are urging that the President abolish the custom of setting apart this office as a political perquisite of the colored race.

"My cure for divorce is to kiss your wife every day as an act of good faith," said Vice President Marshall yesterday to an audience of 1,000 men at the Bedford branch of the Young Men's Christian Association in Brooklyn. The Vice President spoke on "The New Puritan." He wondered, he said, how the old Puritan led the life he did—why, for instance, he did not believe in kissing his wife on Sunday. "He did not, however, believe in kissing another man's wife on any day in the week," added Mr. Marshall.

Cassium M. Fairman, a wealthy business man of Oak Park, a suburb of Chicago, was murdered and his body then placed across the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad tracks in West Chicago, according to the police who investigated his death. His wallet, which is believed to have contained a large sum of money, was missing. Fairman, relatives asserted, had planned to wed Miss Elizabeth Davidson in Omaha, Nebr., March 31. His body was found on the railroad tracks Saturday night. The police believe he was murdered in Chicago and the body taken to the suburb in a motorcar.

A bomb was exploded in St. John's Church, Westminster, London, last night, half an hour after the service had ended nad the congregation departed for their homes. The bomb had been placed beneath a seat in the gallery above the pulpit. The explosion, which is attributed to suffragettes, caused considerable damage to the interior of the building. The church is near the houses of parliament, and faces the home of Reginald McKenna, the home secretary. Archdeacon Wilberforce is rector of the church.

Frederick W. Mennerich wis killed yesterdday at Sullivan, Ill., by the explosion of an infernal machine which he received from Decatur by mail and tried to open after deciding that his ability as an expert repairman would prevent ignition of the explosive. Menerich was terribly mutilated but lived two hours after the dynamite had done its work. Menerich's wife from whom he had been separated for several months, was taken in custody at Springfield, Ill., as a witness, but later was released.

While "looping the loop" yesterday at Santa Barbara, Col., Lincoln Beachey, the aviator, lost control of his biplane and fell 1,600 feet, but managed to right himself 400 feet from the ground, and escaped with slight injuries. The machine crashed into a tree. The aviator was at a height of 2,000 feet, when he made his slip. His biplane then pointed its nose toward the earth and made a spiral dip. Beachey had lost control. Turning and twisting the fall continued though but few realized that anything was wrong.

Three Swiss Alpine climbers, Richard Meylan, Henri Dentland, and Marmillied Droguet were killed yesterday while ascending the Rosy Blanche Peake. The men, roped together, had attained a height of 5,000 feet, when an avalanche swept them over a precipice.

TELLS OF KILLING WIFE.

William Cheney Ellis Declare That She Confessed Her Love For Another Man.

Chicago, March 2.—With a wealth of detail concerning conversations with his wife in the days just before he killed her in a Chicago hotel last fall, not a word directly touching the manner of her death, William Cheney Ellis, former Cincinnati leader merchant, yesterday held the attention of court and listeners in his trial for wife-murder.

He steadfastly declared that his wife had confessed her love for another man and that he had pleaded with her to return to their Cincinnati home, where their two little children awaited them and where he was a respected and prosperous business man.

"That night we went to the theatre," he said. "When we returned I tried to put my arms around her, but she repulsed me. I asked her—I implored her to go home with me to our two children. She said she could not help it and that she couldn't see how she could treat me that way, because I had always been good to her."

"I don't remember anything further, said Ellis. "My home had been broken up. I simply seemed to give way. The first thing I knew I found myself in bed with my arms around Mrs. Ellis. I had on her kimona. And—and—and I saw my darling wife was dead.

"I got the knife and cut my throat and wrists. Then I called Mrs. Ebersole and asked her if she would not come down right away. I told her something terrible had happened. She said, 'Don't let it happen until I can come down.' 'It is too late, we're dying,' I said. After that I cut my throat and wrists again. Then the officers came.

"Mrs. Ellis was the highest-minded woman I ever knew," said Ellis. 'She had no wrong thoughts. She simply was infatuated with that man, Fred Cauldwell, of Branford, Ontario. She was never the same after we met him that summer. It was while we were at dinner here the night I arrived in Chicago that she confessed her love for him. I asked her to go back to Cincinnati and she refused. "I love Cauldwell and he loves me' she said. "We have been corresponding and if you don't let me see him now I will run away and see him another time.

"I told Mrs. Ellis that she ought not to stay here unless she had her sister with her. She said her sister would laugh at her or else think that something was wrong. She said that if she found out she really loved Cauldwell she would come and tell me and we would get a divorce. But all the time she was a good woman."

This was the end of Ellis' direct testimony.

SEEKING BURIED GOLD.

Stumps Farm For "Black Jack Mosier's Treasure.

Bellevue, Mich, March 2.—This little country town is "all worked up" over a mysterious search for the loot of "Black Jack" Mosier, who, with three companions, robbed the county treasurer before the civil war and hid $15,000 in gold in a swamp which is now within the corporate limits of Bellevue.

Several times within the last few weeks three strangers have visited Bellevue and put up at the little village hotel, making trips at night at the edge of the town. Curious villagers, on investigating found that two of the men always went to the Grohe swamp, near the river, on the Charlea Dolph farm, where they dug up stumps. This was reported to the officer and he went to the strangers and asked for an explanation. They said they were digging for "black jack," a mineral found in the swamps.

The visit of the men and their strange occupation recalls former attempts, equally mysterious, to find the loot of "Black Jack" Mosier.

According to the old story four men robbed the treasurer's office, carrying away $15,000 in gold and burying it along the shore of the river. Three of the men were arrested and imprisoned. The one who escaped had a map of the supposed burial place of the treasure. He went west and never returned for the money, but on his death bed gave the map to his son, with full instructions how to find the cache.

It is thought by the villagers that the mysterious leader of the searching party is the son of Mosier, come to recover the spoils of his half-forgotten robbery. He has obtained permission from the owner of the farm to "pull up the stumps"in the swamp.

A PROSPECTUS

THE HOSPITAL

The Alexandria Hospital has reached a crisis in its history. Established 1872 as an Infirmary it has grown with the demand of the time and has developed into a Hospital. As an Infirmary it gave home and comfort to the homeless and infirm. As a Hospital it gives temporary shelter with medical and Surgical aid and nursing to the sick.

OUR CITY

Many changes have taken place in Alexandria and its suburbs in forty two years. With the advancement of the times the population has doubled. There are now forty eight factories and thirty nine wholesale houses in our City. To meet the demands of the consumer there are three hundred and twenty eight retail stores. Our Streets and Schools have been improved to meet the need, and apartment houses have been built.

HOSPITAL NEEDS

With our City advancement has come a demand for a larger and better equipped Hospital. We need more beds—more rooms—and more nurses. The present equipment is entirely inadequate for the amount of work which must be done. It has been estimated by hospital authority that every town should have one hospital bed for every one hundred inhabitants. Alexandria and its suburbs has more than six hundred persons for each bed in its Hospital.

WORK OF OUR HOSPITAL

In the past three years there have been over twelve hundred patients treated in the Alexandria Hospital and over eight hundred surgical operations. Of this entire number of patients treated there have been only eighty five deaths. On an average one third of the patients treated are free patients. We believe the Hospital should care for the sick and injured who come to it, irrespective of color or religious creed. Both those able to pay and those who are not, the former because they will receive better care at less cost and greater comfort to themselves, their families and friends. For many of this class the Hospital is a necessity, living as they do in small apartments and rooming houses, where a protracted illness would be impossible for both the patients and their neighbors. The treatment of the second class, the free patient, is the real gage of the culture, refinement and Christian Brotherhood of a community. Some one quotes: 'The poor ye always have with you,' and does not believe in 'pauperizing' by free treatment. The modern Hospital points out the fact that, unless the destitute sick are helped they become a public burden instead of a self supporting unit to society. With the proper help, they may become an aid instead of a menace to the public.

THE TRAINED NURSE

Another opportunity of our modern Hospital is the training of nurses. The present day schools for nurses are not considered merely as an aid in the immediate care of the Hospital patient, but stand high among the educational institutions of the country. The trained nurse's influence as a public benefactor is felt from the time she enters training and does not stop when her period of training ends. As a graduate she enters the ranks in every city and town as pain alleviator, minister of the gospel of cleanliness and sanitation, public educator and disease preventor. She also renders proficient professional service in the home as an adjunct to the physician, As school nurse she detects and aids in the correction of defective vision and hearing of the pupils and prevents the spread of contagious and communicable diseases. Only those who have been ministered to by her or have need of her professional service when she cannot be gotten know the true value of the training school. The Alexandria Hospital maintains a training school for nurses, and it is not the least of its public service. The nurses are given the course of training and lectures required by the State Board of Examiners. They are required to pass examinations; given public graduating exercises, and awarded diplomas. After their course they are examined and registered by the State Board of Examiners. Some of the former graduates are filling positions of trust and responsibility. The Superintendent of the Training School is a graduate nurse, registered in three states and has had wide experience in Hospital and Training School work. The Assistant Superintendent is a graduate nurse in good standing in her profession. She has had many advantages and is competent in every line of the work.

THE MEDICAL STAFF

The medical and surgical staff cannot be excelled. It is made up of skillful, earnest, energetic men who give of their best skill and time to the poor who enter under their charge. They only need room to enlarge their work of doing good to humanity.

OUR SLOGAN

Let our Slogan be: A NEW HOSPITAL, BETTER EQIPMENT AND FACILITIES WITH WHICH TO LABOR FOR SUFFERING HUMANITY.

OUR APPEAL

An adequate Hospital Building will cost approximately fifty thousand dollars, ($50,000.00), and our appeal for this amount is addressed to you— to every man, woman and child and to every enterprise interested in the physical moral and educational development of Alexandria.

H. Sullivan, who was alleged to have lured Mrs. Dunn into his apartments.

MANY FIRES IN PITTSBURGH.

Damage of $200,000 Sustained During Windstorm.

Pitsburgh, Pa., March 2.—While the thermometer was dropping rapidly and high winds were raging, firemen in the down town section of Pittsburgh, were kept busy yesterday fighting fires.

Three fires, which broke kout within one hour, did nearly $200,000 damage. The first was in the showrooms and office of the Columbia Phonograph Company, in the Fulton Building. The loss there was estimated at $100,000. Before the firemen had the first blaze under control fire was discovered in the warehouse of George Wehn Son Company, carpet dealers, two blocks away. The warehouse fire was soon extinguished with a loss of $40,000.

The firemen had barly completed their work at the Wehn warehouse when a third alarm called them to a four-story manufacturing building in Fifth Avenue. A nickleodeon and three small manufacturing companies were burned ont with a loss of $55,000.

TEARS BIBLE TO PIECES.

Then Throws Leaves at Feet of Preacher Officiating at Laying of Cornerstone.

San Francisco, March 2.—A tall, well dressed young man made his way through a crowd here attending the laying of the cornerstone of the First Congregational Church and tore in pieces a marked Bible, throwing the leaves at the feet of the pastor, the Rev. Charles P. Aked, D. D. The Bible's cover was tossed on the cornerstone. The man then disappeared.

The covers were taken with text referring to followers of new doctrines and the inside was marked: "Property of the San Francisco Church Federation." Dr. Aked is president of that organization.

One of the cards with which the cover was tagged, read:: "Tekel." This word was printed in large red letters. Its meaning as translated in the book of Daniel is:

"Thou are weighed in the balances and found wanting."

Dr. Aked recently came into prominence because of his pulpit utterance, declaring that he did not adhere to the orthodox doctrine of the virgin birth of Christ, and it is believed that the cornerstone interruption came from some one who took that means of voicing his disapproval of the pastor's course.

"This is probably an insult directed at me," said Dr. Aked after the ceremony. "I am president of the San Francisco Church federation, and the book is so marked that it cannot refer to any one but myself. I don't know the man at all, and he said nothing."

Waverly Stables Burned.

Warrenton, Va., March 2.—Fire of unknown origin totally destroyed the handsome stables of the Waverly estate, near Warrenton, yesterday afternoon. Waverly was recently purchased from Mr. and Mrs. E. Astley Cooper, by Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Josephthal, of New York and Baltimer, who have taken possession. The handsome dwelling was threatened. The property is insured.

Suicide of Mrs. Claxton.

Mrs. Lovei Lavenia Claxton, wife of Arthur B. Claxton, treasurer of the Munsey Trust Company, committed suicide yesterday afternoon in Washington at the family residence by shooting herself. She had been desponded for several days, due to ill health, it is thought.

SHOOTS WOMAN, THEN SELF.

Negro Angered Because White Woman Rejected His Attentions.

New York, March 2.—Warren Nelson, a negro and ex-convict, aged 29, after he had shot and probably mortally injured two white women Friday, sent a bullet into his brain, dying instantly. The injured women are Mrs. Louise Oldershaw, aged 27, and her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Koenig, aged 21.

Nelson, a mulatto of extremely light complexion, was an admirer of Mrs. Oldershaw and became angered at the rejection of his attentions, according to the police. He shot Mrs. Oldershaw first and then opened fire on Mrs. Koenig, who was in another room at the time.

The shooting occurred in the home of an aunt of the young women, Mrs. Henry Mack, in the middle west side of the city.

TRAMP THROWN FROM TRAIN.

Railroad Conductor Convicted of Third Degree Manslaughter.

Lancaster, Wis., March 2.—Harry French, of LaCrosse, a conductor on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, has been convicted here of manslaughter in the third degree at the conclusion of his trial for killing Edward Murphy, a tramp, who was thrown from French's train The conviction carries a penalty of from two to four years in the penitentiary. The jury held that the conductor had no right to put a man off a moving train.

Unemployed Invade Church.

The unemployed invaded Fifth Avenue New York, last night and stormed a fashionable church on that thoroughfare. As the choir of the First Presbyterian Church was singing the opening hymn 100 men entered and marched down the center aisle. The Rev. Dr. Howard Duffield, the pastor, stopped the services and made the newcomers a little speech of welcome. Frank Tannebaum, the Industrial Workers of the World leader, arose and said: "We are hungry and we are homeless. We want something to eat and a place to sleep." Other speakers said they wanted to sleep in the church. Dr. Duffield explained he could not grant this request since he had no authority, but would give them food and shelter At the close of the service a purse was made up to provide food and lodging for the men for the night.

Remarkable Verdict.

"The deceased had no relations and damn few friends." This is a sentence from the verdict of a coroner's jury on a miner killed by a fall of rock in a coal mine in Los Animas county, Col. It was read by Representative Evans to the Congressional Committee which is investigating the Colorado coal miners' strike after Roy Campbell, a deputy coroner, had testified in explanation of verdicts in cases of men killed in the mines. It has been charged by the miners that the operators control in politics and these verdicts have been pointed out as unfair.
